FARMERS' COLUMN

For food to be properly digested and well utilized, a good disposition, adequate diet, sunshine, and moderate exercise should be supplied, as well as a balanced diet, says Mary Carolyn Terrell, home economics student, in a speech on "Food Fads and Faddists" given over the university of Kentucky extension of WHAS.

Young homemakers in initial buying should show regard for the size of the family income, its prospects of betterment, and the degree of permanence of such an income. Purchases should be carefully planned to be adequate, but as little in expense as the current income makes desirable.

In buying gingham and seersucker dress materials, be sure that it is marked "guaranteed fast color," thereby affirming that it will retain its original color despite both sunlight and washing. If it is marked only "warranted fast color" it may lose its color in the sun.

When marketing for canned vegetables, look for the United States grade marked on the labels, worked out by the bureau of agricultural economics to enable consumers to know what they are buying. No canner is forced to use them, but some have adopted the practice.

Good gardeners know that it pays to thin vegetables to a distance where they can develop properly. Carrots should be an inch apart, parsnips 2 inches, salsify and beets 1½ inches.

There is still time to sow sudan grass, which makes summer pasture and fairly good hay if cut before blooming and properly cured. It should be drilled in a good seed bed at the rate of 20 pounds to the acre. If broadcast, 30 pounds should be sown and harrowed in.

About Milk Cows

Grow more hay and pasture, get rid of poor cows, raise only good heifers, and use more dairy products at home, is advice which the Kentucky college of agriculture offers to dairy farmers. Regardless of any government assistance, certain responsibilities rest with the dairy farmers themselves, says the college.

Good Pasture Pays.—Good pasture furnishes the cheapest feed. In Kentucky, feed produced by pasture costs only a fourth to a half as much as harvested crops produced on the same kind of land. There is still time to sow lespedeza. Plan permanent pastures.

Provide More Hay.—Legume hay is another source of cheap feed. Provide a ton and three fourths to two and a fourth tons of hay per cow. There is still time to sow soybeans, cowpeas, and Sudan grass. Plan to grow more alfalfa and clovers.

Sell Poor Cows.—Poor feeders, short time milkers, shy breeders, blood-test reactors, and cows subject to udder troubles are low producers. It is unwise to keep more cows than can be furnished hay and pasture from the farm, unless an exceptionally good market is available for milk.

Raise Only Good Heifers.—The average cost of raising a heifer to producing age is $40, at present feed prices. Of this amount, $32 goes for feed. It does not pay, therefore, to risk this high feed cost on calves that do not have breeding or other promise of good production.

Use More Dairy Products.—Each child should have a quart and each adult a pint of milk daily. A gallon of milk daily can be made into nearly 3 pounds of butter, 6 quarts of buttermilk, and 9 pounds of cottage cheese in a week.

Farm Credit Talks

A series of addresses about federal farm credit is announced for the college of agriculture programs from the university of Kentucky extension studios of WHAS.

Frank D. Rash, president of the federal land bank of Louisville, had for his subject May 18 "Finding the Funds to Finance Our Farms."

On June 13, Walter F. Gahn, president of the Production Credit corporation of Louisville, will speak on "That Money You Need for Current Farm Purposes."

John E. Brown, president of the Louisville Bank for Cooperatives, will have for his subject on June 20 "Co-operative Finance for Cooperatives."

On June 27, Ralph G. Sams, vice president and secretary of the federal intermediate credit bank of Louisville, will discuss "Where Farmers Have Equality with Industry."

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION

Paulina Chapter no. 300, O. E. S., West Liberty, with Mrs. Stella Fannin, worthy matron, acted as hostess for the school of instruction for district no. 5 on Monday evening, May 21.

Worthy Grand Matron Minnie K. Rouse, of the Grand Chapter of Kentucky, and her husband, A. B. Rouse, of Erlanger, were present. The grand warder, Mrs. Hazel Bottoms, now of Jackson, but once a West Liberty girl, made her former home folks happy by her presence. A deputy grand matron, Mrs. Victoria M. Spradlin, was also present. Representatives attended from the chapters at Salyersville, Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Inez, Paintsville, and Elkhorn City, and there was a large attendance of the home chapter.

The hall was beautifully decorated in roses, peonies, and lilies. Electric fans made the oppressive heat bearable. As the work was put on in the afternoon by the hostess chapter, the worthy grand matron made the few corrections in such a gracious manner as to put everyone at ease. She offered helpful suggestions and complimented each officer for work well done, making the school one of pleasure as well as one of instruction.

At six o'clock over one hundred persons attended the banquet given in the basement of the M. E. church by the ladies of the Methodist and Christian churches. The color scheme was beautifully carried out with the yellow, orange, and pink, and mints. Many were the compliments paid the ladies who never fail to serve attractively delicious food, and plenty of it to make a real banquet.

The short after-dinner program was enjoyed. Roscoe Brong acted as toastmaster. W. G. Ratliff gave the visitors a hearty welcome. Mrs. W. H. Sebastian presented a spray of lovely flowers to the worthy grand matron, with appropriate remarks on each side. The worthy grand matron then gave a short talk on the general principles of the order. Miss Anne Spurlock sang "Star of the East." Mrs. Mary Allen of Prestonsburg gave two short readings, and Miss Mary Gullett gave a humorous reading entitled "Her Lost Husband."

At the night meeting, the worthy grand matron held the school of inspection. Part of the stations were filled with officers from visiting chapters. All worked together in perfect harmony and the worthy grand matron's remarks were words of commendation. Her address at the beginning and at the close helped those who seldom attend this school to more fully understand the great work the Order of the Eastern Star strives to do, and her words of love and appreciation endeared her to the hearts of all. A number of gifts were presented to the grand officers and were received with gracious words of appreciation. The hostess chapter served angel food cake and ice cream at the close of the meeting.

The names of the visitors follow: From Erlanger: Minnie K. Rouse, worthy grand matron, and A. B. Rouse. From Pikeville: Mrs. Katherine Langley, Mrs. E. S. Collins, Mrs. J. G. Fraley, Mrs. W. E. Varney, Pauline Dillon, Christine DeVeny, Hazel Gose, Pauline Armstrong, Mrs. May Leslie, May Wells, Marjorie Petron, S. L. Isabelle, A. H. Spradlin, Mrs. A. J. Davidson, Josephine Davidson, Jettie Calhoun, Martha Barrett, Maud Justice.

From Paintsville: Mabel Stapleton, Willie May Wheeler, Flora B. Dorton, Emma A. Herford, Nancy Elliott Harp, Paul Hager, Mrs. Cora Cox, Pauline L. Herford.

From Salyersville: Lizzie Prater, Wannie Prater, Victoria Conley. From Prestonsburg: Mary D. Allen, Leba Spradlin, Elizabeth A. Wells, Mrs. Ed Arnold, Mrs. Geo. T. Roberts, Minnie Grace Harris, Mrs. W. P. Runnels, Mrs. V. V. Bunting, Mrs. Richard Spurlock, Mrs. A. C. Harlow, Mrs. Claudia F. Leete, Mrs. Victoria M. Spradlin, Mrs. Dorothy M. Sturgill, Mrs. Anna Lowe.

From Inez: Bertha M. McCoy, Stella Allen, Evelyn Dempsey Moss, Dixie Muncy, Pearl Parsley, Prussia Richmond, Lillian Williamson, Lucile Cornett.

From Elkhorn City: Lula R. Johnson, Mamie Barrowman.

From Jackson: Mrs. Hazel Bottoms and Mrs. Fern Stamper.

Decoration Day Services

Decoration day services will be held at the Murphy cemetery near Mize at 10:30 a.m. and at Old Grassy cemetery at 2 o'clock p.m. on Decoration day, with Rev. Harlen Murphy of West Liberty in charge.

A Drag On Prosperity

Pointing out that "obviously a sales tax bears much more heavily on wage-earners and small merchants, who spend most of their income on commodities, than on the wealthy, whose surplus buys investments, personal or professional services," an editorial in The American City, a monthly journal devoted to municipal affairs, charges that "a sales tax is a serious drag on the revival of prosperity."

The magazine attacks the sales tax in a leading editorial quoting tax authorities of New York and New Jersey. It points to findings of a nation wide investigation by the Rockefeller Foundation, directed by Robert Murray Haig, professor of political economy at Columbia university, and conducted by economists headed by Prof. Carl Shoup of the School of Business. The article quotes the findings of Professor Shoup in the following summary:

"In common with most professional students of taxation in this country, the writer has had an unfavorable opinion of the sales tax, altho he has not believed it to be by any means unworkable or impracticable with respect to raising considerable amounts of revenue."

LADIES' AID MEETS

The Ladies' Aid society of the Christian church met at the home of Mrs. Mattie Davis on Thursday, May 17. The president, Mrs. Lula Arnett, opened the meeting with scripture reading, followed by prayer by Rev. Harlen Murphy.

The afternoon was spent working on a quilt. Present were Mrs. R. D. Sparks, Mrs. Ada McKenzie, Mrs. Clara McKenzie, Mrs. Floyd Arnett, Mrs. Nora Caskey, Mrs. Clarice Reese, Mrs. Audra Stacy, Rev. and Mrs. Harlen Murphy, Misses Josephine McGuire and Edna McKenzie.

Happy Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Baldwin had a happy reunion of their children last week. Russell is home for his vacation. Drexel Moore of Grayson was joined by his wife and children, who spent the winter in Paintsville with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jones, next month they will go to housekeeping again in Grayson. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gentry have located in Jackson, Mich. Their two daughters, who spent the winter here with their grandparents, returned with their parents and brother. Their friend, a Mrs. Handley of Michigan, was with the Gentrys. All returned to their respective homes on Saturday.

ALMANAC

"What is the use of running when you are not on the right road?"

- MAY 21—Amelia Earhart flies across the Atlantic, 1932.
- 22—George Washington refuses American throne, 1782.
- 23—Steering rates from Europe priced at $10, 1904.
- 24—English hang Capt. Kidd, famous pirate, 1701.
- GOIN' UP 25—Lake Erie rises four feet in ten hours, 1840.
- MAY 26—Al. Jolson born, calls loudly for Mammy, 1886.
- JUST HARRIED 27—Charles Lindbergh marries Anne Morrow, 1929.

"As an emergency source of revenue, the tax has the undeniable advantage of raising a certain amount of money quickly; but it is not the only tax possessing this virtue. It should not be difficult for the professional student, altho removed from the immediate area of contest, to sympathize with actions of legislators and others in many states who have been trapped by constitutional limitations on taxing power and by the threats of articulate and powerful groups who would be injured by resort to forms of emergency revenue other than the sales tax."

"Nevertheless, in the writer's opinion, the sales tax as an emergency form of service, and certainly as a permanent part of any state's taxation system, marks an unnecessary and backward step in taxation."

If real estate must have relief from taxation, the editorial continued, "the public welfare will be advanced not by adoption of the sales tax, but by placing more reliance on progressive income and inheritance taxes as sources of governmental revenue. Students of public finance generally have accepted the theory of ability to pay as a proper and desirable basis of taxation."

LADIES' AID MEETING

Cannel City, Ky.—The Ladies' Aid society of Cannel City Union church met Thursday, May 17, with Mrs. Phil Donovan.

Mrs. W. T. Stamper, vice president, presided at the meeting, which was opened by singing "Where the Bells Swing Outward Never" and "Learning on the Everlasting Arms." The hostess read the 10th chapter of John, and Mrs. Emma Terrell led in prayer. Mrs. Thos. Davis read the minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. M. R. Elam called the roll.

The afternoon was spent in piecing quilts. Delightful refreshments of home-made candy were served during the social hour, and Miss Estelle Faulkner played several numbers of beautiful piano selections.

Members present were Mrs. W. T. Stamper, Mrs. Oscar Arnett, Mrs. Earle Haney, Mrs. D. P. Peyton, Mrs. Thos. Davis, Mrs. A. C. Carter, Mrs. M. R. Elam, Mrs. G. W. Leslie, and Mrs. Phil Donovan.

Visitors were Mrs. G. E. Nickell, Mrs. M. H. Ferguson, Mrs. Emma Terrell, Mrs. J. W. Benton, Mrs. Chalmers Benton, Mrs. Rissie Lykins, Miss Estelle Faulkner, and Mrs. Winfred Carpenter.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Earle Haney, Thursday, May 31.

Good News

The Norton Blast Furnace, cold the past 10 years, will be started in operation on June 1. It was announced at Ashland last week. It is expected that the operation will be continued thru the remainder of 1934. The operation of this furnace will give employment to approximately 100 men. The resumption of operations at the Norton furnace is made necessary by continuing demand for metal at the West Works of the American Rolling Mill company. For many years the operation of the Norton works has been the barometer by which business sentiment in that community could be measured. The Pikeville News says that an upward trend in business is reported by the A. J. Hatfield Lumber company at Ransom, following a long period of partial idleness. Sufficient orders to insure steady operation for several months have been received. The increase in demand is due largely to the improvement of mining conditions.

SALES TAX DEFEATED

The legislature's interim committee's sales tax measure was defeated in the house of representatives at Frankfort on Tuesday by the decisive vote of 32 to 66.

An administration called for public demonstration had been held on Monday, with the crowd addressed by Governor Ruby Laffoon. The governor asked for the passage of the bill before the "sun goes down." The bill, however, was not considered that day.

C. C. May, representative from Morgan county, voted against the measure, as it was generally expected that he would.

Immediately after the defeat of the sales tax measure, Dr. J. B. Floyd of Madison county, an administration supporter, called a meeting of his fellow members to consider proper sources of revenue for the state's needs. At this meeting Dr. Floyd was elected chairman and Ralph Gilbert of Shelbyville was elected secretary. A canvass of the house membership is now being made to secure the views of the members on various revenue measures, with the expectation of formulating a program which will have the support necessary to enact it into law.

TEACHERS REBUKED

Elizabethtown, Ky.—The following statement was issued here after a discussion of taxation matters by the business men:

"The business men of Elizabethtown have made an investigation and find that there is paid into the school fund of this city annually $28,400. Of this amount less than $5,000 is received from state funds and $23,500 is derived from local taxation. We feel that if investigated this ratio of state funds to local funds would exist in most towns and cities throughout the state."

"In view of these facts and realizing that approximately 80 percent of our school fund comes from local taxation, it seems to us that the teachers and educators over the state should rightfully cooperate with the people who pay their money into the school fund and make it possible for the teachers to hold their jobs and receive their salaries instead of playing into the hands of the politicians at Frankfort, who are only trying to advance their own selfish interests."

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Cannel City, Ky.—Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Peyton entertained a number of their relatives and friends on Sunday, May 13, in honor of Mr. Peyton's forty-second birthday. They had prepared a bountiful dinner.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Stamper, Mrs. L. C. Peyton, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Peyton and sons Anthony and Charles, Mrs. G. E. Nickell and daughter Maurine and sons Tommy and Edison, Mrs. Serena Wells, Ed Loeman, Mrs. Nan Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Corbett Peyton and sons James, Merle, and Lavin and daughters Anita and Wanda, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Peyton and sons Leonidas, Dorsey Jr., and Alex.

The day was enjoyed by all. The children played games in the afternoon, while the older ones enjoyed some wonderful Mother's day programs over the radio. We all hope Mr. Peyton will have many more happy birthdays.

SAYS HARRY SOMMERS

"If we are on the road to moral degeneracy, the path is being blazed by the women more than it is by the men. Man's standard for women has not been changed, but women have changed their own standard."

In these words the dean of Kentucky newspaper men, Harry Sommers of Elizabethtown, arraigns American womanhood. The particular foundation for Brother Sommers' remarks is the modern attitude of women toward intoxicating liquors. Women drinking intoxicating liquors in public places is degrading, second in degree only to the enslaved habit from which few of the habitual participants escape.

BUYS FORD AGENCY

Wm. Sewell of Lee City has purchased the Ford Motor company agency at this place from L. B. Reed, and has taken possession of the business.

Mr. Sewell is a first class mechanic himself, and with the well equipped shop is excellently prepared to take care of the nice trade which this shop has built up.

Mr. Sewell has the exclusive selling agency for Ford cars and equipment for this territory, and will vigorously develop that part of his business.

SUMMERS

C. M. Summers of Lexington, Kentucky, died Friday, May 18, 1934, after an illness lasting nearly three years. Mr. Summers was pastor of the Christian church at West Liberty during 1910-1917, leaving in September, 1917, to join the Y. M. C. A. forces for war work, and was stationed at Camp Zachary Taylor during the remainder of the war.

He was later district secretary for the Y. M. C. A., stationed first at Jackson, then at Winchester, and later at Louisville, from where he was transferred to Nashville, Tenn. Then he reentered the ministry, returning to Kentucky about four years ago.

Previous to the illness that forced him to give up his work, he was connected with the state board of missions of the Christian church in the capacity of secretary for rural work.

Mr. Summers is survived by his widow and his daughter Katherine, of Lexington, his father, known here as "Dad" Summers, of Winchester, and a sister near Latonia.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Woodland church with Dr. Noe of Nashville and Drs. Fortune and Allen Wilson of Lexington officiating. Burial was in the Lexington cemetery.

ARE YOU A SAFE DRIVER?

Summer is here and the streets and highways of the nation will be crowded with traffic. Fine dry weather will bring out thousands of motorists—and roads will resound again to the roar of motors.

Now is the time to ask yourself if you are a safe driver—and don't answer too hurriedly. You can give yourself a little quiz that will help. Are you thoroughly conversant with the driving laws of your state? Do you adapt the speed at which you drive to local conditions—in other words, are you aware that 20 miles an hour is dangerously fast at times, and slow at others? Do you stick to your side of the road, and make certain that you can stop, under any circumstances, in the assured clear distance ahead? Are you careful not to pass on hills and curves?

Other questions of this kind will suggest themselves to you. But even if such a test, honestly answered, puts you in the safe driving status, you aren't thru. How about your car? When were the tires, the brakes, the steering, the lights, last inspected by a good mechanic? A substantial percentage of motorists put off repairs till tomorrow—and sometimes that tomorrow never comes.

Last year was one of the worst in the history of the automobile so far as needless sacrifice of life and property was concerned. Every motorist should give himself a safe driving test now—and if he is uncertain as to how to do it, traffic departments and safety organizations exist to help him. Bring accidents down in 1934!

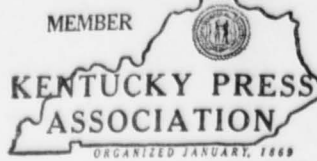

NEW TELEPHONE SERVICE

Effective May 23, citizens of West Liberty have at their command a world wide communication service at much lower rates than have heretofore been charged. This has been made possible thru a contract between the Postal Telegraph-Cable co. and the Kentucky State Telephone co., whereby the local telephone company will act as agents for the telegraph company, transmitting telegrams to all points in the United States and Canada, as well as cablegrams to foreign points and radiograms to ships at sea.

In addition to transmitting messages, the local telephone company will deliver all messages destined to West Liberty at any time during the hours of operation at the telephone exchange. Charges for this service will be billed on the monthly telephone bills just as long distance tolls are billed at the present time. Of major interest to residents of this community is the fact that the sender of a telegram now will be charged only for the cost of the telegram and not for the long distance tolls in phoning the message out of West Liberty. As an example, a short telegram sent to any point in Kentucky will cost approximately 25 to 37 cents.

In explaining this new service, W. B. Wells, local manager for the Kentucky State Telephone co., said: "We are happy to offer this superior telegraph service to the citizens of West Liberty thru the facilities of our local telephone company. In reality, every telephone is a Postal Telegraph station, as it gives the subscriber access to any point on the globe. You will appreciate the high type of telegraph service which our employees are now trained to render."

"The FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER"

By ALFRED BIGGS

Lost love is rarely revived.

Love 100% pure is rare as radium.

Suspicion feeds jealousy, certainly starves it.

It is easier to hurt those who love us than those who do not.

We are more fooled by our own egotism than by flatterers.

We often get credit for good qualities by hiding our bad ones.

Those who boast of many friends are generally advertising their own virtues.

BOB JONES' COMMENTS

"The Jesus philosophy will not work in the modern world," is what a man said to me some time ago. "How do you know?" I asked. "Have you ever tried it?" He looked impressed and said, "I don't believe I have."

Jesus said that if someone smites you on one cheek to turn the other one. Personally, I have never tried that, but I believe it would work. In the first place, I do not believe that if we turned the other cheek we would often find the man mean enough to strike the second blow. If a man smites us on one cheek and we do not turn the other, but smite him back, we may get killed. There are many men sleeping in the cemeteries of the world who would have lived longer if they had turned the other cheek. It would not hurt us to try what Jesus said. I'm sure it would work. We have tried all kinds and theories of government. The world is in a turmoil. Everything is unsettled and uncertain. Why don't we try out the theories of Jesus—"Put God first," "If thine enemy hunger feed him," "If a man asks for your cloak give him your coat also," "If a man smites you on one cheek turn the other one."

Jesus knew life. He was the Author of life. He came not only to give men life, but to give them abundant life. He knew men. It is a pity the world will not heed what Jesus says about how men ought to live.

One time the writer dropped into an office and asked a man a very civil question. The man was abrupt and irritated. The writer decided he would try kindness and courtesy, so he spoke in the most gracious way he knew how. The man who was unsmooth and impolite softened and became most courteous himself. "A soft answer turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger."

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Carter of Lexington spent Sunday with Misses Florence and Josephine McGuire, returning home Sunday evening accompanied by Miss Josephine McGuire, who attended the funeral of C. M. Summers in Lexington Monday.

LICKING RIVER

May 22—Dr. Sparks of West Liberty was called last week to see Sam McClure, who has a sore hand.

Mrs. E. W. Day, while standing in her yard Monday, was shot in the knee by a .22 bullet. She was taken to West Liberty to have the wound dressed by Dr. Sparks. Her knee is pretty sore. She doesn't know who did the shooting, but thinks it was some boy shooting at birds who didn't look where he was shooting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. May and daughter Mildred, of Pleasant Run, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Osborne.

Mrs. Math Lewis attended the revival at Spaw Creek Sunday. Thomas Carrel and Raleigh Shaver of Lickfork preached here Saturday night and Sunday.

It Happened Like This

By VERNON DARE

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

WHEN news spread around town that Joe Albers and Peggy Rogers had been secretly married and had left town for a honeymoon that included Cedar Rapids, the whole town was agog.

What could have happened to Joe's engagement with Cella Winslow? Perhaps Cella wasn't quite sure about the whole affair herself. But here's the whole story. To start we'll have to go back a ways to a conversation between Peggy and Cella, who for many years had been close friends. It happened like this:

"Peggy, you're just wasting your breath. I simply won't have anything more to do with Joe."

"Well, I think you are acting like a narrow, caty girl. You know very well how much Joe loves you or he wouldn't have asked you to marry him."

"Then he's got no right to make engagements with a girl he was engaged to before. She's probably just come East to make up to him again—even if she is married herself. Joe should have called me up first, instead of just phoning me to say he had made a date for us tonight and hoped I would appear my best to meet his old friend. Well, I won't, so that's that!"

"But, Cella, Marge's husband is along. It was just to be a pleasant foursome."

"Yes, with me palmed off on hubby so that Marge and Joe can talk of the dear days gone by. Not for me."

Peggy stood up and pulled on her chiffon scarf. "I'm sorry you couldn't have hidden your jealousy," she said, "and you've hurt Joe plenty."

Peggy went home and tried to shake Joe's troubles from her mind and also tried to be fair and impartial as far as Cella was concerned. She had scarcely arrived at her home before the telephone rang.

"Peggy, this is Joe again. You can't do anything with her? Well, you've been a swell sport. But here's a question you must say yes to. Will you be Cella for me this evening?"

Peggy gasped. "What good would that do?"

"As a matter of fact, Peggy, I don't want Marge to discover that I'm engaged to a girl that won't come around and meet her. She's one of the old gang and it hurts me like the dickens to have her see me in a mess like this. It would be spread all over the old home town and people who don't know Cella would have an awful impression of her."

"O. K., Joe, I'll be glad to help you out," said Peggy. "I'll look my prettiest and you can call for me at seven. I won't fail you."

Marge and Marge's husband proved most charming and there was not the slightest doubt that they too found Peggy charming.

But then who wouldn't? Peggy's eyes were a mixture of mauve and deep blue and her lashes were long and upturned. She was sincere and apparently much in love with Joe. Joe would have been only too pleased to have had greater possession of Peggy during the evening but Marge's husband saw to it that nothing like that happened. In fact Joe felt something like a thundercloud enveloping him as he watched Peggy and Marge's husband having dance after dance together and having no thought for anyone but themselves.

Marge glanced amusedly at Joe's troubled eyes. "Joe, Bill is just doing that to tease you and to give you plenty of time to chat. We love each other so much that we couldn't even think of anyone else seriously." She put a sisterly hand on his. "Don't be jealous—jealousy breaks up too many happy marriages. I think your fiancée is perfectly charming. And you see, Joe, she doesn't care how much time we spend together. She trusts you—you must trust her. She's worth it."

Joe smiled and returned the pressure of Marge's warm fingers. "All right, Marge, I'll take your advice and try not to be jealous. And since you like her so much, Marge, maybe we'll stop off at Cedar Rapids on our honeymoon and visit you. How's that?"

"Peggy," said Joe, an hour later when he had Peggy tucked carefully beside him in the taxi homeward bound. "I told Marge that I would bring you out to visit them on our honeymoon."

Once more Peggy gasped. "Cella and I are not exactly twins," she told him. "How will you explain it all? I'm sorry, as personally I think Marge and her husband are both charming company. I wish they lived here in the East so that I could see some more of them. I do think, Joe, you might have been a little more thoughtful of Cella. If you had telephoned her first and asked her if she wanted to make the engagement, she might not have felt as she did. You must remember Cella is a little jealous but that is quite natural."

"I suppose you're right, Peggy, but I'm through with Cella now."

"Why the—now?" questioned Peggy. "Because, dear, I love you. Is there any chance in the world you'll have me?" Joe spoke wistfully. "There must be a chance—I don't think I could live if you are in love with someone else. However," he laughed triumphantly as he folded Peggy in his arms, "I'm not going to kick in and I have already promised Marge—you know."

"Of course we couldn't disappoint Marge," Peggy said happily.

If a state is to march ahead, it should have modern roads.

States are judged by the type of roads they have.

Good roads are a distinct asset. Business cannot advance satisfactorily without them.

Good roads are a standing advertisement for a state. The better they are, the greater their drawing power.

Good roads are a great factor in the development of a state. They stimulate business and bring many new residents to a state.

Good roads develop convention and tourist business, which brings much business to the state as a whole.

States with good roads have little trouble in developing a peppy spirit, which makes a better state.

Business cannot increase or advance to any extent in states where the roads are not modern and sufficient to render the necessary service required.
